Arbitration Fee Schedule

Effective October 1, 2026

In addition to the foregoing fee rules, the TJC arbitration fee schedule is as follows:

Type of Case	Statement of Claim / Counterclaim Filing Fee	Case Management Fee
Claim less than $50,000 ("Small Claims"), consumer case, malpractice case, or employment dispute	$250 Paid by consumer / employee, small claims party $650 Paid by business, employer, professional	$1,250
Divorce, custody, and claims more than $50,000 but less than $100,000	$1,400	$1,200
Claims more than $100,000 but less than $200,000	$2,100	$1,900
Claims more than $200,000 but less than $500,000	$3,300	$3,100
Claims more than $500,000 but less than $1,000,000	$5,000	$4,600
Claims more than $1,000,000 but less than $10,000,000	$6,900	$5,700
Claims more than $10,000,000	$10,000	$10,000

For consumer arbitrations, the consumer pays a $250 filing fee for each Statement of Claim or counterclaim. The business pays a $650 filing fee for each Statement of Claim or counterclaim. The business must also pay all case-management fees and arbitration costs, including the arbitrator's fees and expenses.

For employment cases, the employee pays a $250 filing fee for each Statement of Claim or counterclaim. The employer pays a $650 filing fee for each Statement of Claim or counterclaim. The employer must also pay all case-management fees and arbitration costs, including the arbitrator's fees and expenses.

For professional malpractice cases, the consumer client pays a $250 filing fee for any Statement of Claim or counterclaim. The professional parties pay a $650 filing fee for each Statement of Claim or counterclaim. The professional parties must also pay all case-management fees and arbitration costs, including the arbitrator's fees and expenses.

For small claims cases (when the amount in dispute is less than $50,000), the filing fee for any party who is not a professional is $250 for any Statement of Claim or counterclaim. The filing fee for the professional is $650. Unless the arbitrator orders a different allocation, the parties share equally the case-management fees and arbitration costs, including the arbitrator's fees and expenses.

 Case Management fees are payable equally by the parties unless otherwise agreed at the time of the hearing or before a decision is made. For cases involving more than two parties, the Case Management Fee will be increased by 20% per additional party.*

This updated schedule supersedes the TJC Arbitration Fee Schedule dated January 2023 as to the rates shown above. No previously approved fee reductions were altered.